Callan Spearheads Thornton Beach Project Approval

FIGHT APARTMENTS

Garibaldi Street Homeowners Take Protest To Court

Residents of one-block-long Garibaldi street off Mission last week obtained a court order that temporarily at least will block the council-approved construction of apartments on the south side of Garibaldi.

City officials were served court papers late last week and were ordered by Superior Judge Louis Dematteis to appear January 21 to show cause why the restraining order should not be valid.

The city council made no comment on the action last week in study session or Monday night at its regular meeting.

The seven Garibaldi street residents who signed the injunction have named as defendants the city council, the planning commission, and Gus Pedemonte, Maria Moresco and Edith Franzoia. The latter trio got the apartment zoning by 3-2 vote of the council (Councilmen Francis Pacelli and Joseph Verducci were against the apartments).

The Garibaldi residents charge that the zoning for apartments was "capricious and arbitrary" and amounted to spot zoning and illegal procedure by the planning commission and council.

These homeowners from the start have been against what they termed the "intrusion" of apartments in this predominantly single family dwelling area. They argued before the council verdict that apartments would bring worse traffic congestion and hazards to children who reside on the north side of the dead-end street.

Pedemonte, whose attorney John Putkey no doubt will have to substantiate the zoning in the court hearing, agreed to install and pay all expenses of a short street, connecting the east end of Garibaldi (the dead end) to Price street on the south. The builder said this street would help to improve traffic conditions on Garibaldi and believed it was a gesture that would appease the protesting homeowners.

COUNCIL NAMES CALHOUN AIDE 'CITY ENGINEER'

By 3-0 vote, the city council Monday night appointed William E. Chapman, 29, city engineer in advance of the departure of Public Works Director Otis Calhoun this Friday.

Councilman Micheal DeBernardi made the motion, seconded by Francis Pacelli and affirmed by Mayor Edward Dennis. Councilman Joseph Verducci was in Florida and Bob St. Clair was in Los Angeles training for the Pro All-Star football game this Sunday.

Chapman, second in command to Calhoun, has worked for the city almost two years. His salary as "city engineer" will remain the same as his former assignment, $833 a month.

Dennis said the council also would name a new superintendent of streets at the January 25 study session, starting at 7 p.m.

Calhoun submitted his letter of resignation three weeks ago, following a closed session with the council in which all five councilmen told him they weren't content with his administrative performance.

The outgoing public works department chief Monday said he is considering several California job offers. His accrued leave starts this Saturday, although he officially leaves the Daly City position Friday.

At the start of their move for Calhoun's resignation, the council said they would leave the re-evaluation of the public works department to the new city manager. He reports here March 1 from Petaluma.

DC Mechanic Dies In Crash Of Small Plane

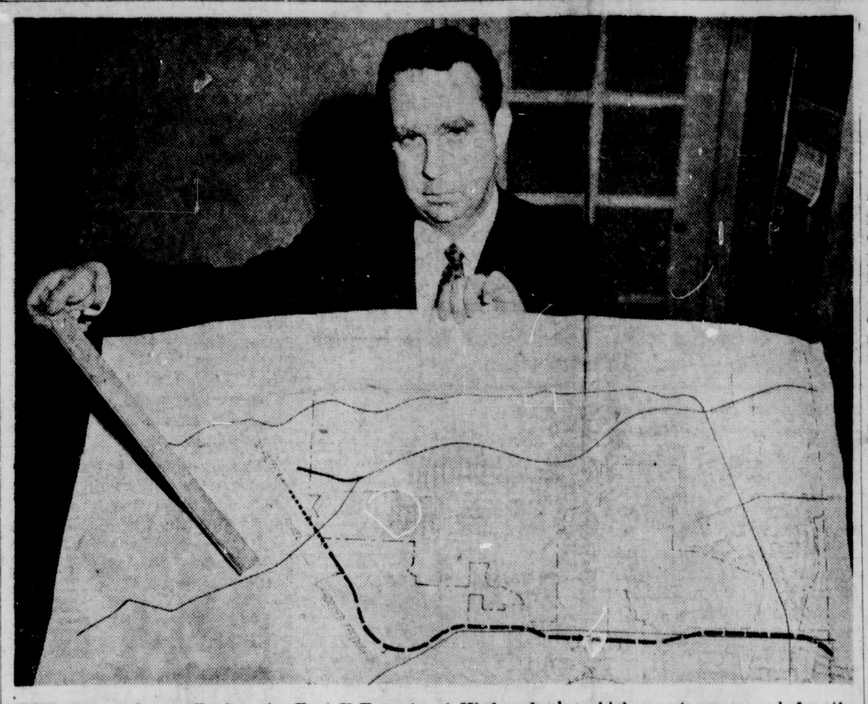
Funeral services were conducted Saturday at W. C. Lasswell and Company for John Kulik, 46, of 74 Tallwood drive, who was killed January 7 when the light plane he was piloting crashed in southern Alameda County.

The accident also took the life of Kulik's passenger, student pilot James Garver, 30, of Millbrae.

Kulik, who lived in Daly City the past 23 years, worked for Western Greyhound Lines as a mechanic and was licensed as a pilot. He took flights out of San Carlos airport.

A native of Indiana, he is survived by his wife, Una Mae Kulik; children, Stanley, Victor and Gayle Kulik; his mother, Agnes Jablonski of Bridgeport, Michigan, and his sister, Mrs. Jenny Winkowski. He was a member of Automotive Machinists Union Local 1305.

Services at Lasswell's were followed by a Requiem High Mass at Our Lady of Perpetual Help Church. Interment was at Holy Cross Cemetery.



GRIM expression reflects attitude of Councilman Francis Pacelli, who led Daly City's delegation in pressing for the East Y-T route at Wednesday's freeway hearing in South San Francisco. Pacelli chairmanned the city freeway committee, which went on record for the Junipero Serra route as the least destructive on any proposed through this community.

A DARING ENDEAVOR

'Too Early' Robber Grabbed By Police In Supermarket Here

It is said that the "early bird catches the worm." However, this wasn't the case as far as Arthur Gilbert Prado, 27, 2081 15th street, San Francisco, is concerned.

Prado arrived 15 minutes before 7 p.m. at Spotlite Market, 1 Hillside boulevard, believing that 7 p.m. was the Sunday closing time. However, he found that he had to hold the manager of the store, Patrick J. Fagunds, 203 Avalon drive, at gunpoint until 11 p.m.

In the meanwhile police heard of the armed robbery attempt and rushed reinforcements to the market. Prado was apprehended at 8:31 p.m., but during the interim it was a hectic experience for Fagunds.

Through clerks Victor Capovilla and Louis Ray Briggs, who notified customers to call police after they made purchases, the Daly City officers rushed to the scene.

Plotting of the robbery actually started two weeks ago in a Market street bar in San Francisco were Prado met two men. The pair found Prado interested in doing a "supermarket make-out" and gave him the lay-out of the store. They also gave him $20.

Two days later he took a bus to Spotlite and looked the place over while buying a package of cigarettes. He received $40 from his accomplices in order to rent a car and brought it along with an overnight bag. He arrived Sunday at 6:45 p.m., believing the store would close at 7 p.m.

Prado opened the overnight bag and took out his disguise while in the restroom. He wore a clerk's yellow smock, false sideburns, a false mustache, dark sun glasses and a blue engineers-type hat.

Fagunds called to him to come out of the restroom. Prado apparently thought the store was closing and came out with a sawed-off shotgun in his hands. Then he heard the

Elementary Schools

STATE ALLOCATES $754,981 FOR 23 CLASSROOMS HERE

The State Allocations Board at its Tuesday meeting in Sacramento granted Jefferson Elementary School District a total of $754,981 for the construction of 23 additional classrooms here.

District Supt. Richard Foster said the appropriations will be: $202,414, for two extra classrooms and property required to enlarge Jefferson Elementary School on Allemany street; $187,440 for seven additional classrooms at Thomas Edison K-6, under construction in Westlake Unit 10; $186,484 for seven more classrooms at Daniel Webster K-6, in St. Francis Heights, and $178,643 for seven more classrooms at Abraham Lincoln K-6, also in Westlake Unit 10 on the same site as Edison.

Foster, accompanied by Asst. Supt. Dr. David Shapiro, said the state also authorized the district to advertise bids on the Jefferson School enlargement within two weeks.

The addition of two classrooms to Jefferson School will bring the transfer of students from ancient Jefferson Annex on San Pedro avenue. This old edifice, a real antique, will be torn down.

The seven additional classrooms at Lincoln, Edison and Webster will give each school a total of 18 classrooms and two kindergartens—the biggest elementary plants in Daly City's history.

The Lincoln-Edison site alone cost the district $499,287 in a transaction with Doelger Corporation. The three new schools (Lincoln, Edison and Webster), cost $512,065 each for the construction of 12 classrooms at all three plants.

McKeon Company sold the district the Daniel Webster site for $303,856.

Lincoln School should be completed in mid-February. Edison and Webster should be ready about a month later. The steel strike and difficulty in hiring certain tradesmen caused a delay. All three schools were scheduled to be finished on February 15 this year.

DALY CITY'S sixth reservoir (above), located at the end of Skyline drive in Westlake Unit 11, should be operational within two weeks. The $100,000 tank has a capacity of 1,500,000 gallons and will serve residents of Westlake Units 8, 10, 11 and a portion of St. Francis Heights. E. M. Penn Construction Company is the contractor.

JITNEY FIRM WARNED ABOUT 'POOR SERVICE'

Daly City councilmen Monday night gave George Ferris, Northgate Transit Company owner, "the word" in no uncertain terms, demanding "improved and safer" jitney bus service here.

Ferris was present because his firm had asked the city by letter to designate bus stops and appropriate zones in connection with extended jitney routes to Westlake Heights and Knolls and to St. Francis Heights.

City Attorney Paul Hupf suggested that Ferris meet with Police Chief Roland Petrocchi to determine the new bus zones, and the council agreed that the police department should make sure Ferris' firm is complying with regulations in regard to maintenance of the buses and observing speed laws.

Irked many times because of numerous complaints about the Northgate operation, Mayor Edward Dennis bluntly told Ferris that speeding was "a matter of real concern."

"Also," Dennis went on, "we're not too happy about the condition of your vehicles."

Ferris, quickly agreeing to meet with the police chief, denied that there had been speeding violations. Most of the big crowd, however, greeted Ferris' reply with some rather loud murmurs.

$5000 MORE TACKED ONTO WATER SURVEY

Councilmen authorized an additional $5000 outlay to Washington and Associates for Daly City's $25,000 water system improvements survey Monday night.

The new expenditure will cover a distribution study and analysis of the deficiency status of existing rates.

Two members of the survey firm met with the council Monday night at 7:30 and said their overall report would soon be submitted.

In other agenda business, the council:

1. On advice of city attorney, denied claim of Western Well Drilling for extra hours in testing well.

2. Tabled action on three Callan Company proposals (to January 25 meet)—vacation of a portion of Wyandotte street, a variance permit for setbacks in connection with the 90th street assessment district, and rezoning of land east of Westmoor High School from C-1, R-3 and R-1 to C-1 and R-3.

3. Passed resolutions vacating portion of Edgemar road in front of St. Francis Heights and small strip on east end of Market street between PG&E and the McGill property.

4. Set January 25 for bids on city gas and oil.

5. Approved license for Jim's Donut Shop at 6288 Mission street.

6. Approved and adopted civil service amendments on personnel clerk's duties and probationary period for employees.

7. Conducted first reading for R-1 to R-3 zoning change on Lots 74 and 75 in Garden Valley unit, and C-1 to R-3 change on .88 acres north of Eastmoor avenue and east of the M. Pauline Brown School site.

Council Asked To Seek Muni Court For DC

Tavern owner George Kirchhubel, one of the most active Mission street businessmen, Monday night asked the city council to push for the establishment of a municipal court in Daly City.

He noted that the council-approved state census, scheduled to begin next month, will bring Daly City's population up to 40,000, sufficient, Kirchhubel said, to warrant a municipal court.

The barkeeper said a court here would save the police department its present loss in time and money in using municipal facilities in South San Francisco.

Work This Summer?

STATE'S OKAY REQUESTED ON FUND TRANSFER

Supervisor Tom Callan reported today that the many-times sidetracked development of Thornton Beach state park on Daly City's west side should become a reality with work expected to begin this summer.

Callan said that as a result of a conference last Friday between County Manager Bob Stallings and Charles DeTurk of the state division of beaches and parks, quick action is expected this spring in Sacramento for the transfer of some $200,000 for the development of Thornton and an enlargement of the park.

Callan, who assumed chairmanship of the board of supervisors last week, said Senator Richard Dolwig has agreed to introduce an amendment to the budget bill, changing the designation on the set-aside appropriation of $200,000 from "acquisition" to "acquisition and improvements."

Callan and Stallings this week will meet again with state officials to discuss the present "barricaded condition" of old Coast highway in an effort to make this roadway available for access to the beach. The freeway agreement between Daly City and the state for maintenance of this section has been terminated, and title to the land on which the road exists is still under litigation between the state and Ocean Shore Railroad.

Stallings said consideration is being given to providing parking at the north end of the beach next to Fort Funston, with suitable ramps down to the beach to permit pedestrian traffic to the lower level. Engineering studies are being made for the development of vehicular access at the lower end of WOMAN DIES IN WESTLAKE ...MURDER?

Daly City police at press time Tuesday morning were further questioning a 32-year-old San Francisco man in connection with the death of his sister-in-law just before dawn Monday in a Westlake apartment.

Chief Roland Petrocchi said no formal murder charge had been filed against Robert Snyder, 32, of 650 Diamond street, although he was being held for more interrogation.

The dead woman was Evelyn "Cathy" Snyder, 32, who reportedly had gone to the 80 Forest Grove drive apartment Sunday night with Robert Snyder, after her husband, cab driver Elliott Synder, 1064 South Van Ness avenue, ejected both of them from his residence.

The Forest Grove residence is occupied by Robert Snyder's friend, Courtney Kurrell, 22, a teamster, who denies any knowledge of how the woman died.

Police here were informed of the death by Margo Wollenburg, 20, 520 Buchanan street, San Francisco, at 4 p.m. Monday when the young woman went to Westlake to visit Kurrell.

Miss Wollenburg said Robert Snyder answered the door and immediately said he was having trouble waking up his sister-in-law. Miss Wollenburg hurriedly called police when she noticed that Mrs. Snyder's face was bruised and she appeared lifeless.

Capt. Roy Beecher and Sgt. Jack Walsh said Robert Snyder was incoherent, probably due to sleeping pills and alcohol, thus his account of the situation couldn't be confirmed.

The officers found Mrs. Snyder lying on the bed, naked except for a blouse. A coroner's autopsy attributed death to a brain hemmorhage, resulting from possible blows to the victim's face.

Robert Snyder did tell officers that Kurrell arrived home about noon Monday, changed his clothes and then left. Kurrell told police that Sunday night he returned to the apartment, noticed that Robert Snyder was there with a woman, so Kurrell said he slept on a couch.

Audit Report Suggests Only Minor Changes

Certified Public Accountant John Maddux required only about 25 minutes Thursday night in reporting to the Daly City Council on his $2000 audit of the city's fiscal books.

Except for recommending a few improvements by the city treasurer in accounting for the status of bonds, Maddux made few other significant assertions.

Councilmen appeared convinced that Maddux' report confirmed the year-end fiscal reports of Finance Director Joseph Arch and City Auditor Bob Hunter.

A full-scale audit here would have cost the city a minimum of $35,000, Hunter at one time estimated.

Progress . . . In Reverse

As we look at the dilemma that faces the City of Daly City we cannot help but feel that something very akin to assinine statesmanship is trying to "explain" deficits, need for increased revenues, more taxes, etc., ad nauseam, rather than getting down to brass tacks and cutting unnecessary expenditures.

In an article printed in a San Francisco newspaper one councilman, Micheal De Bernardi, was quoted as making the farcical statement that Daly City's municipal deficit was due to the weather, the steel strike, and a former city manager. Just how far off the beam can one get in placing the blame for Daly City's deficit on such nebulous causes?

The fact is—the city council adopted the tax rate, not the city manager. And besides, wasn't 50 percent of the sales tax to be used to reduce the general tax rate? Well, all we hear now is the absolute necessity of upping the tax rate by at least 40c—possibly more—for the next fiscal year. And will that boost take care of possible further deficits? Of course not! Another 30c or 40c will be added the year following, ad infinitum.

Council Records Show—

SALES TAX 'PROMISED' LOWER TAX RATE-------BUT POSSIBLE?

Less than a year ago—on May 19 of 1959—Daly City councilmen agreed that sales tax (put into effect by 3-2 council vote early in 1959) was fair and feasible for residents of this community of now 40,000.

All five councilmen even went so far as to hire a professional publicity man to write articles for them to convince taxpayers before the May 19 election last year that sales tax was "essential" to the progress of the municipality.

The May 19 election, set up to let residents decide whether or not sales tax should be continued, kept sales tax by almost a 4-1 margin at the polls. Thus the full council's arguments for sales tax convinced residents that the levy would be beneficial.

Two councilmen, Francis Pacelli and Joseph Verducci, crusaded to keep sales tax, basing their talks to many groups here on the "merits" of the levy. The other three councilmen, although fully in favor of sales tax as a budget boomer, remained silent publicly about the levy. But these three councilmen all secretly prayed that sales tax would be maintained.

The council's paid publicity for sales tax emphasized (these articles and the election campaign statements of all five councilmen are on file in the newspaper office) that sales tax would accomplish two things:

1. Help to lower the ad valorem or property tax, and

2. Allow for a vigorous capital improvements program.

Vandals Pellet 11 Autos Here

Approximately $780 damage was done by vandals to 11 autos parked on the east side of Daly City last Wednesday between 3:30 and 6 a.m.

Officer Jim Welsh said the culprits drove about with a pellet gun and shot out the windows, mostly rear ones, of parked autos. Most of the damage was to autos on San Diego and Westlake avenues.

Owners of autos reporting damage were: Mildred T. Vaughan, 623 San Diego avenue; Carlos J. Costa, 456 Westlake avenue, to two of his cars; Charles F. Gerans, 7240 Mission street; Katherine P. Bryson, 738 San Diego avenue; William F. Cloutier, 433 Westlake avenue; Margo Y. Peppers, 124 West Moltke.

'Wave' Burglar Is Captured;

An 18-year-old Daly City youth who stole a car radio from a used car lot in San Francisco tripped himself up by failing to pay the lot attendant for his parking space. It resulted in the juvenile's apprehension for two thefts in San Francisco and at least five or more in Daly City.

Alexander John Daukshas Jr., a machine operator of 16 Flournoy street, admitted burglaries at Mackey's TV, 6026 Mission street, on January 1; Schmidt's Used Car Lot, 6018 Mission street, on December 16; Cook's Radio and TV, 6189 Mission street, on November 26; the home of Mearl Tangren, 262 Crocker avenue, on December 3, and residence of Anastasia Pastras, 94 Peoria street, also on December 3.

SFPD Officers Raymond Mathes and Ted Lusher received the parking attendant's report and asked Daly City police for aid in nabbing Daukshas last Thursday. Daukshas jumped from a window at his home and hid between two buildings. Sergeant Jack Walsh and Officer Steve Steen trapped him with the aid of Officer David Johnstone.

DALY CITY LISTINGS WANTED

Wm. Lagomarsino & Co.

(Since 1925)

7100 Mission — Plaza 5-1100

WHAT'S DOING

W. L. Conkey, your Telephone Manager in Daly City

Meet Marlene Kappeler of 21 Park Plaza Drive, Daly City and a Service Representative in our Telephone Business Office. Like Service Reps everywhere, she answers questions or requests when people call in about their service. We wanted you to meet her because she's typical of the people we like to have working for you—bright, personable and likes to help others. Naturally, she got plenty of special training before she took over her service desk. That's the way we like to do it . . . Help people like Marlene build careers for themselves while they do a good job for you.

You know that wire that runs from your phone to the pole outside? It's called a drop wire. With lots of new phones going in, you've probably seen phone men hooking up these wires. Most always, they have a few small pieces left over. Do they throw these pieces away? Not at all! These "leftovers" are put together into lengths of wire we can use somewhere else. We do it by melting the leftovers down, along with other scrap metal and cable pieces. And you'd be surprised . . . just from this reclaimed metal alone we get hundreds of miles of new wire every year. So you see, just like a budget-minded housewife we make good use of our scraps!

LOOK magazine readers may have seen the article about the Los Angeles "Family Housing Conference" attended by 100 builders. These builders asked a panel of 28 home-owners (23 women and 5 men) for their opinions on everything from doorknobs to landscaping—to telephones. And the ladies agreed: a kitchen phone is "an absolute necessity". One woman added, "We have four telephones at our house, and when I put them in I was criticized by my husband, who does some traveling. We have one in the kitchen, the basement, living room, and one upstairs in my bedroom. But when my husband calls home on his trips, all three of us get on the phones and talk to him and he talks to all of us at once, now he says, '. . . it's worth it.'" Pacific Telephone the beach in such a way so as not to destroy the dunes and permit development for picnicking on the level above the roadway.

DeTurk said that "depending on the success of the legislation to be introduced by Senator Dolwig, the state division of beaches and parks will be in a position and would proceed after the first of July with the development of Thornton Beach—our number one priority project."

JITNEY FIRM

Asked if the city had any direct jurisdiction over the jitney company as far as maintenance of vehicles was concerned, Hupf said the Northgate Company was responsible only to the California Public Utilities Commission which granted the franchise.

MUMPS TOOK HEAVY TOLL IN DECEMBER

The unusual cold spell last month made the statistics on diseases a little higher, according to a bulletin issued today by the county health department.

There were 90 reported cases of mumps, 45 streptococcal (throat) infections, 41 cases of chicken pox, and 20 cases of syphilis.

City of San Carlos was hardest hit with 36 cases of mumps. Four cases of syphilis were recorded in both San Mateo and outer Menlo Park.

Measles cases totaled 13 for the entire county, and there were only six tuberculosis reports.

Pacifica had the only polio case.

Housewife Of Sausalito Says Molested Here

Daly City police are attempting to find the location of the assault of a 33-year-old San Francisco woman, mother of a young son, to ascertain whether the case is in local jurisdiction

She said that a man named Robin Degman, 35, 10A 2nd avenue, Sausalito, phoned her twice Saturday asking her to come to a party at his home. She said she accepted as she had met Degman through a former roommate who was currently touring Europe.

The woman attended the "casual party" wearing a basketball sweatshirt and capri pants. She said she met many guests and had a few drinks. The drinks combined with tranquilizers, which she is prescribed to take, and an open fire in a fireplace, made her drowsy.

When she awoke she was without clothing in the car Degman had borrowed. Degman, also without clothing, struck her a number of times, she alleged. On the way back from the site of the attack, approximately seven minutes later, she spotted the signboard which shows directions to Westlake.

She told Degman, "God will punish you." His reply was, "God didn't help you this time." Officer Steve Steen handled the investigation for Daly City police.

The woman also made reports to Richmond District police and Sausalito police which were turned over to Daly City. She was examined at Park Emergency Hospital where it was confirmed that she had been molested.

Firemen Revive Stricken Infant

Police Officer Steve Steen gave credit to Daly City firemen of Company No. 5 for saving the life of a 16-month-old infant Sunday at 11 p.m.

Steen received a call from the child's father, Leonard J. Costa, 29, 29 Fairlawn avenue, stating his son, Robert J., was the victim of a seizure attack. Following resuscitation and recovery at the hands of the firemen, the infant was transported to Children's Hospital in San Francisco, according to Steen.

The seizure was possibly caused by medical injections given earlier in the day, Steen theorized in his report.

Minor Injuries In Two-Car Crash

A two-car collision at Mission and School streets accounted for a minor injury to a Westlake passenger in one of the autos last Friday afternoon.

Bernice Enloe, 48, 17 Fieldcrest drive, said she would see her own doctor. She was a passenger in the vehicle of Ernestine R. Ertola, 37, a housewife of 768 North Mayfair avenue.

Hugo Ramon LeCompte, 56, a bartender at the Bayshore Bowl, 1 Linden street, South San Francisco, was the driver of the other car. No citations were given by Officers Richard deLosa and Richard Brewer.

The council talks of doubling parking meter fines (from $1 to $2) and jumping business license costs to an exorbitant amount—to help make up the deficit. Now just why should the merchants suffer financially to make up a deficit they had no control over? They have enough problems to resolve, let alone taking this burden on their backs.

We ask, and again and again we ask it, why can't the City of Daly City be run on the present tax rate, along with the boost from sales tax, in an economical and "in the black" manner?

It is inconceivable to think that the water department funds can be taken every year and dumped into the general fund to help make up deficits or for any other spending without weakening this department to the point where a whopping bond issue—$500,000 to $1,000,000 won't be absolutely necessary to keep it running. So far, this department has been the money maker for the city but has been the "whipping boy" for every council needing funds. At present it is in a position where it needs most of the money it makes for its own upkeep, expansion and repair.

No, the blame can't be placed on the steel strike, the weather, or any other behind the scenes cause. Nor can we blame it entirely on ping-pong, baton twirling and similar activities that may show some fringe benefits but which are not actually necessary for the welfare of the city. The blame falls in just one place—the city council.

Daly City's Park and Recreation Department contributed to Carmel's cause by allowing use of the auditorium free of charge.

Court Here?

Mayor Edward Dennis told Kirchhubel his point was "well taken, and we'll refer the proposal to our new city manager."

Kirchhubel, who more than once has voiced some constructive ideas for council consideration, declared that "some day even a superior court might be possible here."

He asked the council to forward the municipal court proposal to Supervisor Tom Callan, Assemblyman Louis Francis and Senator Richard Dolwig for submission to both the board of supervisors and the state legislature.

Newspaper Deadline Is Noon On Mondays

Publicity chairmen are reminded by Editor Harold P. Bradshaw that deadline for submitting club, group and church items for publication in the Westlake Times and The Record is Monday noon each week.

Early copy, brought or mailed into the office at 3317 San Jose avenue, Daly City, on Thursdays and Fridays preceding the next week's issues, is encouraged.

Only last-minute page 1 news copy is processed after the Monday noon deadline.

SALES TAX 'PROMISES' . . .

Right now, the city's budget deficit possibility—to the tune of roughly $172,000—indicates that sales tax promises won't last long. In view of the general fund deficit outlook it is fortunate that there are sales tax funds or the municipal budget problem would be worse.

But the council's pledges in backing sales tax may not materialize if residents closely examine the budget deficit problem.

Published statements show that the entire council said sales tax funds would be split right down the middle—half each year going to reduce the property tax and the rest into a restricted capital outlay fund.

The council DID reduce the property tax rate for the present budget, from 92 cents per $100 to 90 cents. But next fiscal year's budget, effective next July 1, should see the property tax rate jump heavily — well over $1. The present budget woes leave only one way out—the property tax rate has to go higher to "make up" for the current setback caused by administrative blunders.

Overestimates in general fund revenue for the present budget and overspending in several city departments created the existing foulup, and its effect on taxpayers in budgets to come will be felt in their pocketbooks.

Lower property taxes or gradual ad valorem increases to serve higher population—one of the council's pledges with sales tax — can't be realized in the immediate future. In fact, the property tax rate for next fiscal year alone will rocket upward because of the council-caused crisis.

The budget blunders also will immediately effect the capital improvements program. If councilmen approve the transfer of surplus water department funds (the most essential funds of all) this department will suffer, and to take up the slack, some long due capital outlay projects will be handicapped and set back from their earlier schedule.

Personnel additions in many city departments, long anticipated to help serve a growing community, also will be abruptly curtained. There just isn't enough money available in the present budget and the taxpayer, promised that sales tax would pave progress, will have to foot the bill if the council is to free itself of its own predicament.

Sales tax, no doubt, has been beneficial. But keeping its "promises" will be short-lived — starting with next July when the property tax will soar and tempers of citizens will do likewise.

bad news that the store didn't close until 11 p.m.

Capovilla noticed what had happened and informed cashier Briggs. Briggs told customers, who had made purchases, to notify police.

Officer Richard Sims rushed to the top of the stairs while Officers Mathew Murray, Ed Beecher and Sergeant David Hansen soon joined him. Officer Jim Bergstrom stationed himself at the front door. Prado saw the officers walk into the store from the back office.

The office door was locked so police decided to fire a shotgun blast at the floor, break the door in, and nab Prado. All worked well until they got inside. The room was empty. Fagunds later said that the shotgun blast did unnerve Prado, his calm and complacency disappearing.

Policemen took different directions in search of the culprit and the store manager he was going to use as a shield. Sims came to the northwest corner of the store where he spotted a head sticking out from between two rows of canned goods.

Prado had the shotgun aimed at the manager when Sims crept up behind him. Sims poked his revolver into the man's back and ordered him to drop the gun. For a second, Fagund's life hung in the balance, but hesitantly Prado dropped the gun.

Murray helped Sims pull Prado out to the center aisle. Prado made a move toward what Sims described as a "metal object." All four officers then helped to subdue Prado with a night stick. A .32 caliber revolver was taken from his waistband.

The commercial motorcycle driver with tattoos on his fingers and arms was handcuffed and placed in a cell. Police are still checking the whereabouts of the two men who planned the operation.

NURSE JAILED FOR ILLEGAL PRESCRIPTIONS

A 23-year-old registered nurse, who lives at 118 East Moltke street, Daly City, was arrested by Police Inspector John Fabbri of South San Francisco at Sunshine Gardens Drug Store last Thursday on charges of forging prescriptions.

Mrs. Linda Damien Guerez, according to Inspector George Brooks of the Daly City police, also had bogus prescriptions filled at four Daly City drug stores.

She was described by Fabbri as a "goofball user." He explained that a goofball is a type of hypnotic, having less effect than heroin and opium but still potent.

Officers said the woman's husband, Roger, deserted her last September just before she gave birth to their only child. The three-months-old youngster, James, was left in the care of a West Moltke street neighbor.

Mrs. Geurez allegedly obtained the prescription blanks from Los Angeles County Hospital, where she worked during the early part of last year, and from San Francisco County Hospital, where she has been employed the past three months.

Fabbri said he had "tipoff information" on the woman's alleged forging activities and he awaited her at the South San Francisco drug store.

Brooks of the Daly City department said that 22 San Francisco Hospital prescription blanks were found at the nurse's home along with a Beretta automatic pistol that had a shell in its chamber.

Fires Damage Oliver Home, DC Cleaners

Two fires early this week caused $500 damage each at the home of A. M. Bautista, 183 Oliver street, and to Daly City Cleaners, 6287 Mission street.

Firemen of Company 2 and volunteers from Company 4 responded to the fire on Oliver street at 3 a.m. Monday. Captain Mel Hansen said the blaze apparently started in the fireplace, as the Bautista family did not use a grate. He noted the heat became so intense that wood behind the brickwork started to smoke and flared up.

Hansen was in charge of the 12 men who took a half hour to quell the blaze. The firemen stopped the flames before they could reach the attic by tearing out a piece of the bathroom wall, located in back of the fireplace. Hansen said a man stood duty until 8 a.m. as firemen did not want to damage the house further.

A faulty thermostat on the boiler didn't release when it should have, causing the fire at the cleaners at 6:27 a.m. Tuesday. The roof and timbers over the boiler ignited and eight men directed by Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy doused the blaze within a half hour. A. Martinelli owns the building while Harry Willis, 2100 Rebdington street, Hillsborough, is owner of the business.

Marston, 20, a City College of San Francisco student, on November 6. Marston suffered a brain hemmorhage and was saved by emegency surgery. He was released from Peninsula Hospital last month.

Robert Davis, 17, of 73 Garwood drive, and Jerry Morgan, 16, of 58 Tallwood drive, were sent to Log Cabin Juvenile Detention Ranch for their roles in the attack on Marston.

BOTH TRACK COACHES

Trustees Appoint Ribera, Watt To Administrative Jobs

Jefferson High School District's two track coaches won out from among 12 candidates for the posts of afternoon session dean of boys at Westmoor and summer school principal.

Trustees Monday night appointed Ernie Ribera, Westmoor varsity track coach, as the dean of boys for Pacifica youngsters beginning September, and Robert Watt, Jefferson varsity track coach, as summer school principal. Their names were taken from the 12 applicants who applied for the summer school principal and dean of boys positions.

Ribera, 37, lives at 2950 Crestmoor drive, San Bruno, with his wife and five children. He is soon to be the father of a sixth child. He received his A. B. degree in history at San Jose State and his master's degree in science from Stanford University.

The Westmoor track coach has been in the district for 11 years, three of them as a department head. In 1955 Ribera was president of the teachers association. He has retained his reserve commission with the Marine Corps as a major. Currently a counselor at Westmoor he also taught social studies there and at Jefferson.

He will be a "teaching" dean of boys, handling class periods as well as spending two periods a day with Director of Instruction Dr. John Ivan in the development of the afternoon program.

Watt, only 27, lives at 1581 Claremont street, San Bruno. He started in the district five years ago, immediately after graduating form San Francisco State College where he earned A. B. and master's degrees in physical education.

The Jefferson varsity track coach is currently serving as counselor at the east side school. He also coached frosh football.

Superintendent Ed Morgan said there were no applicants for the 1960-61 Westmoor p.m. session dean of girls position. A full time dean of girls is being sought for the afternoon session. However, when the Pacifica high schoolers move to Oceana and Terra Nova, the position of dean of girls will also fall into the part-time teaching realm with two periods a day spent in the administrative capacity.

Morgan said that he has received 22 applications for the positions of principals at the two Coastside schools. Four of the applicants are teachers in the district, he noted. Morgan expects more than 30 persons to apply before he makes his recommendations.

"It would be hard for candidates from Southern California to come individually to the district in order to apply for the jobs. Therefore, as a courtesy and to make things easier, I will conduct interviews in the Los Angeles area next month," Morgan stated.

COUNTY AGREEMENT

DC Librarian Urges Broadmoor, Colma Folks To Use Service

Broadmoor and Colma residents who want to continue using Daly City's two libraries at no cost must turn in their old cards for new ones as soon as possible.

City Librarian Samuel Chandler issued this reminder today, noting that almost 1000 of the 1938 non-Daly City residents who borrow Daly City books have yet to obtain new library cards.

Daly City is providing Broadmoor and unincorporated Colma residents with library service under an agreement with the county in effect since last July.

Unless Daly City library users from the unincorporated areas take advantage of the service, it may be discontinued as the county agreement could be dropped. If this should happen, Daly City libraries would accommodate only Daly City residents and the "outsiders" would be charged $3.87 a year for Daly City library cards.

Daly City accommodates Broadmoor and Colma people in its library program in exchange for some 6000 county books, furniture and reference services on a year-to-year basis. The agreement balances out so that both the county and city break even in the matter of expenditures. This fiscal year the county will spend $7382 and Daly City $7373 in the agreement.

If Broadmoor and Colma users fail to avail themselves of the free Daly City library usage, then Daly City officials may find it financially feasible to limit its service to Daly City residents.

Chandler said that Daly City has a total of 25,000 library books on its shelves, including the 6000 on loan from the county. Four thousand of the 25,000 total are in the temporary Westlake library branch on Park Plaza drive. Many new books will have to be purchased for the new Daly City main library, under construction off Southgate avenue near Elmwood drive in Westlake. The new library is planned for a capacity of 30,000 books.

The Daly City libraries have a circulation of about 200,000 a year, Chandler pointed out. This means the total number of times books are taken out.

Chandler's department, operating on a tight $65,000 budget this year (less than fiscal '58-'59), consists of seven full-time employees and three part-time.

The 40-year-old city librarian holds a job with a salary range of $495-$573. He and his wife, Ruth, are the parents of two boys, 11 and 8, and a daughter, age 6. They live at 468 Citrus avenue.

Chandler came to Daly City after serving as science librarian at Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. He was also circulation librarian at Idaho State College and taught English and religion in high school at Delta and Pleasant Grove, Utah.

Chandler, a World War II Army Air Corps veteran, holds an A. B. degree from BYU, and he received a Master's degree in English there also. In addition, he obtained his Master's degree in library science from George Peabody College in Nashville, Tennessee.

He was born in Idaho Falls, Idaho, and went to grammar and high school there.

Good Coverage Direct Result Of Publicity!

Publicity chairmen for all Daly City area PTA, church, social clubs, and other civic and homeowners' groups are asked to forward their names and phone members to the City Desk, Marchbanks Publications, 3317 San Jose avenue, Daly City, headquarters of the Westlake Times, The Record, and the Daly City Shopping News.

Unit presidents who do not have publicity representatives are encouraged to designate same and notify the newspaper (by mail only) of these appointments and where these chairmen can be reached by mail or phone. Chairmen also should list the dates and times when their groups meet, and where they meet.

The editorial staff of Marchbanks Publications is making up a master list of organizations to facilitate and coordinate the flow of timely news items.

Again, notification to the newspaper office should be made by mail, to 3317 San Jose avenue, Daly City.

'Troubador' To Be Staged At 2 Schools

The "Song of the Troubadour" will be presented at Colma School on Friday, February 12, from 1 to 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Admission is 50 cents for children and adults. This is a colorful presentation by the San Francisco Players Guild who performed here earlier in "Pinocchio." Tickets will be on sale every Tuesday at noon in the lobby of the school. The play also will be presented at Benjamin Franklin School on February 13.

City Councilman Opens Campaign For Supervisor

James V. Fitzgerald, San Bruno city councilman and former mayor, at an organizational meeting recently, officially opened his campaign as a candidate for the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors.

Noting that spending by the county government went up from $12,813,851.14 to $52,714,837.26—over 400 per cent during the past eight-year period, Fitzgerald said this is extremely significant in view of the fact that "assessments climbed from $456,594,600 to $739,198,890, over 60 per cent increase.

The increased costs of county government have not gone unnoticed by the taxpayer, he stated.

"Concern by thinking individuals has caused the forming of new groups on the Peninsula, one of which is the Town Hall Association," he said. "Three of these groups are banding together to form a non-political watchdog committee to stop wasteful spending.

"This is only one step in the right direction. Modern business methods must be put into effect in our county government. There are too many taxing agencies in San Mateo County. These duplicating jurisdictions should be eliminated wherever possible.

"With eight years as mayor and councilman of San Bruno, and as a successful businessman during this same period, 1952 to 1960, it was possible for the San Bruno council—working cooperatively—to lower city taxes. Yet at the same time, we were able to replace almost every major facility—paying for these improvements as we did the job."

BLOODMOBILE NEEDS MORE DONORS HERE

There is still time to sign up for blood donations. The Bloodmobile of the Peninsula Memorial Blood Bank will be at Westlake School on Friday, January 22, from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. Donations may be assigned to organizations or personal Blood Bank Reserves. These reserves can be accumulated from year-to-year, assigned when needed to any hospital regardless of location.

Anyone wishing to donate may do so by obtaining sign-up forms from Jefferson Elementary Administration Office, 48 Park Plaza; Coordinators Office, 123 Knowles avenue, Marchbanks Publications, 3317 San Jose avenue; or by contacting local PTA presidents. Girl Scouts Units Nos. 23 and 24, leader Mrs. Allan Mori, will furnish baby-sitting at Westlake School between the hours 3 to 5 for parents who have children accompanying them at the time.

This project has been sponsored by the Jefferson Classroom Teachers Association, with Miss Alfea Belli acting as chairman. To be successful a minimum of 100 donors must be guaranteed. This quota has not yet been reached. There is a great need for blood. Everyone who is eligible is urged to take advantage of this convenient opportunity to build up a reserve for himself and his family by making an appointment on Friday, January 22.

AROUND TOWN

By ROY HURLBERT

City Attorney Paul Hupf (pronounced huff), who served briefly on the Daly City council three years ago before succeeding Frank Blum, is being prompted by many friends and associates to become a candidate for the superior court job left vacant by the resignation of old-timer Aylett Cotton.

Paul hasn't told anyone he will be a candidate for the $21,000 per annum position of dignity, though you can be sure he wouldn't turn his back on the opportunity.

Hupf ranks among the north county's many fine young legal professionals. He is respected as much by his colleagues as he is by residents of Daly City who have commended his work at City Hall.

The freeway hearing this week brought more "participation" in Daly City government than any issue that has come up the local pike for many a year.

City government would be much more efficient if residents sustained their interest by attending all council meetings.

It doesn't cost a dime to attend. Apathy hinders representation for the masses. Councilmen make the decisions, true, but they will be more careful if they know their every action is being watched and weighed.

James Fitzgerald and John Romano, two San Bruno men of prominence, both will attempt to unseat Supervisor Tom Callan Sr. this year.

Fitzgerald, we hear, has the better chance of the two would-be contenders. But the odds still are about 100-1 that he can even make it close against the leathery veteran of many a verbal battle.

Callan's rotation to the chairman's seat puts him in a very opportune position just before the primary election. The chairman of any public agency always is in the best position to get the most publicity.

Contrary to what certain people may have wanted others to believe, the state department of education at no time was against the construction of schools in Westlake units west of Skyline in the Palisades areas.

He said the state feels that if houses could be built there, so could schools. The risk is the same to both homeowners and school children.

He has filed a $150 damage claim, asking the parents of neighborhood children to pay for the damage the youngsters allegedly did in digging the hole during play. Hearing will be held January 28 in municipal court.

CITY EMPLOYEES SEEK CHARTER TO ESTABLISH CREDIT UNION

All of Daly City's 175 municipal employees and their families stand to benefit if a move to establish a credit union program is successful here.

President Shelby Ross of the municipal union and 17 other city employees last week filed papers for establishing by federal charter a credit union plan here.

The request, qualifying for charter adoption since more than the required minimum number of employees endorsed the idea, is expected to be confirmed by state and federal officials within a month.

Ross estimated that about one-third of the 175 city employees would immediately avail themselves of this plan wherein they will be able to start systematic savings through payroll deductions (individually choosing the amount they want deducted) and also to borrow money at reasonable interest rates.

Yearly dividends to employees joining the credit union will be paid on minimum $5 a share basis.

Credit union participation for all permanent city employees is entirely voluntary, Ross pointed out, declaring that neither the employees' union nor the fire and police association had adopted the idea as a compulsory measure.

Ross said Fire Dept. Capt. Charles Marshall had been most instrumental in acquainting city employees with the advantages of establishing a credit union here. Marshall brought in outside officials to explain the merits and workings of the system.

Temporary employees and volunteers are not included in the charter proposal, Ross said, but provisions for them may be forthcoming once the program is on solid ground.

Administration of the credit union will be entirely local, and consistent with credit union standards and legalities in other California municipalities.

Ross said members or shareholders in the Daly City Credit Union would select their own officers and also a loan committee to assist and advise employees.

City employees who helped to get the charter request officially in motion last week, the second major meeting on the proposal, were Bttn. Fire Chief Frank Specht, Finance Director Joseph Arch, office personnel Wilma Riley and Marian Benedetti, fireman George DeBono, and Ross, the city's parking meter collector and repairman.

'Combination Man' Booked In W'lake

Officer Philip LaBruzzo, on routine patrol last Wednesday evening, found an auto parked across the sidewalk in front of 688 Southgate avenue with its rear wheels on the lawn of the Westlake residence.

LaBruzzo went to the corner and made a "U" turn. When he returned he found Theodore V. Pechetti, 53, 30 Maywood avenue, attempting to start the car. Pechetti was booked on a charge of being drunk in or about an auto. Pechetti, who listed his occupation as a "combination man," was held in lieu of $52.50 bail.

SWIFT AND COMFORTABLE TRAINS

'Cash Or Credit' Rides Seen In Rapid Transit System Of 1965

A dramatic picture of the metropolitan commuter of five years from now has been unvailed in San Francisco.

He will ride in swift, attractive and comfortable trains powered by electricity from either hydroelectric or atomic power sources.

His trains will be programmed by an electronic computer which will dispatch and control all trains.

He will pay for his ride by cash or by a credit card which will make possible "ride now . . . pay later" transportation.

He will speed to destinations in the counties of the San Francisco Bay Area on either a suspended or supported rail system. It will transport him both over and under the waters of San Francisco Bay . . . carry him beneath the congested downtown areas in modern subways . . . and route him in some places along the median strip of modern new freeways.

These are the highlights of a lengthy report given to the board of directors of the five county Bay Area Transit District. The interim report was made by consulting engineers to the District.

The five-county transit district was created two years ago by the California Legislature to develop engineering and financing plans for regional rapid transit. The plans must be approved by both the county boards of supervisors and the voters at a bond election now scheduled for November of this year

Reports delivered so far to the district board embrace:

—Routings and station locations now being planned in the various counties.

—The trans-bay underwater tube which would be the "hub" of the system.

—The transit equipment which will carry patrons.

—Type of propulsion system which will drive the equipment.

—The control system which will govern all train operations.

Preliminary first-stage routings for the system have been made public in four of the five counties of the District, directors were told. Plans for San Francisco County will be turned over to the city's technical experts in the near future, according to Chief Engineer Keneth M. Hoover.

There would be about 125 miles of rapid transit routings on surface, aerial and subway levels. On the eastern side of the Bay, routings would fan in three directions to serve suburban areas of Contra Costa and Alameda counties, as well as the metropolitan centers of Oakland and Berkeley.

On the San Francisco side, the routings would pass through the city over the existing Golden Gate Bridge to serve Marin County in the north, and also down the San Francisco Peninsula to serve San Mateo County in the south.

Preliminary work already has begun on the four-mile underwater transbay tube. Such a rapid transit tube would make possible a trip from downtown Oakland to downtown San Francisco, the two great metropolitan centers of Northern California, in 11½ minutes, reducing by a full half hour the present peak hour travel time.

Holes, some 250 feet below the surface of the water, now are being drilled in the earth and rock of the Bay bottom. During the next two months, plugs from the earth and rock layers will be taken for analysis.

Seismic equipment will be placed in several of the holes and earthquake readings will be taken for the next two years. The consulting engineers explained that the transbay tube would withstand an earthquake of the magnitude of the San Francisco temblor of 1906, and that the current activities in the Bay are necessary to determine the depth of the tube itself.

To develop the system's rolling equipment, the District's engineers have been working with a dozen manufacturers, including several aircraft firms. Final proposals are to be received by March 1, but Hoover indicated that equipment research—as well as research activity concerning automatic controls, fare collection, and construction techniques — will continue even while the bond issue is pending.

Because there is no modern full-scale suspended (rail or rails above the cars) system in operation, the base equipment estimate will be predicated on a supported (rail or rails below the cars) two-rail system. Alternate estimates will be prepared on the other systems.

Operational requirements — primarily speed and safety— will dictate final selection of the rolling equipment. The trains will average 45 miles per hour, including station stops.

According to District engineers, all known methods of power and propulsion have been investigated by the District. Some have been utilized by rapid transit or commute systems, and some have had little or no application in this field.

Power requirements for the proposed regional rapid transit network are greater than those for any transit system now operating. Systems being given most attention by District engineers include 600 V DC third rail, 3000 V DC overhead rigid rail and 7200 V AC single phase overhead rigid rail.

Because portions of the routings would be located in either tube or tunnel, hydrocarbon fuels or fuel systems can not be used.

Automatic operation and control will be an essential part of the overall rapid transit system design. The entire system will run on its own rights-of-way, so that maximum speeds may be attained at all times.

To as great a degree as possible, the system will be controlled by electronic computers. They will both formulate trans scheduling, and program patronage factors. The computers will initiate the make-up and dispatch of all trains.

Once a train enters the control system, it will be governed by trackside and station control equipment which will alter its speed, stop it at stations, and cause it to start once again. An automatic block system will override all the controls in case of serious trouble along the system.

Rapid transit directors were told that suppliers have informed District engineers that such a system is feasible. Proposals and cost estimates are expected within two months.

Three engineering firms are members of the District's joint venture consulting team: Parsons, Brinckerhoff, Quade and Douglas, of New York; Tudor Engineering Company, of San Francisco; The Bechtel Corporation, of San Francisco.

In addition, there are a number of local and national engineering and consulting firms working on special features of the program.

Given voter approval, the engineers say the entire rapid transit system could be constructed and placed in operation by 1965.

17TH DISTRICT

Frank Higgins, Former High Army Dept. Aide, To Address PTA Meet

A man of national prominence and importance has been secured as speaker for the January meeting of the 17th District of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Scheduled to discuss "Foreign Competition—Is It a Threat?" is Frank H. Higgins, former Assistant Secretary of the United States Army, holder of the Legion of Merit, and recent recipient of the Distinguished Civilian Service Award.

The evening session, to convene at the Villa Hotel in San Mateo at 7 p.m. on January 21, is the sixth annual dinner meeting of the 17th District. It is the one time during the PTA year when the county-wide group gears its regular business meeting to include spouses in addition to stressing conviviality and cordiality.

A few remaining reservations for the event are available to district representatives and local PTA presidents who wish to contact Mrs. C. N. Underwood, 33 Madison avenue, San Mateo, prior to January 11.

Higgins, now a resident of Atherton, is well qualified to discuss his chosen subject by reason of his activities in governmental affairs. He served for the three years preceding 1945 as U.S. Army colonel in the capacity of Assistant to the Chief of Ordnance of the War Department. During the final months of his tour of duty, he was Special Assistant to the Under Secretary of War, Robert P. Patterson.

After a short return to civilian pursuits, he journeyed to France to serve as Chief of the Machinery and Equipment Section of the Economic Cooperation Administration under California's Paul Hoffman and as assistant director of the Mutual Defense Assistance Past program.

In February of 1954 he became deputy under the Secretary of the Army and in August of that year he was sworn as Assistant Secretary of the Army, a post he held until his resignation was accepted by President Eisenhower in March of 1959.

Many times honored, Higgins holds the Charles L. Harrison Gold Medal Award for outstanding service to American Ordnance and the Gold Good Citizenship Medal awarded by the Philadelphia Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Friday Evening Folk-Dancing Classes Here

Folk dance classes for beginning intermediates will be held in Daly City War Memorial Community Center on Friday evenings from 7:30 to 10, starting January 22 under the direction of Elsie Maclaren.

This new, more advanced series is not for beginners, although dances previously taught will be reviewed. It is open not only to the beginners who graduated in December, but to anyone who has had a few months of folk dancing. Although the instruction is primarily on international folk dances, the first half hour will be used for the fundamentals of square dancing which is considered as one of the forms of folk dancing in the United States.

Through the cooperation of the Daly City Department of Parks and Recreation, the charge is very nominal—$3 a couple, $1.50 for singles, which amounts to 10 cents a lesson. All receipts will be used for the expenses of a folk dance open to dancers and spectators without charge. Last year the dance was held unintentionally on Mother's Day, but there was an attendance of 300 and there have been many requests for a repeat. The new class will take an active part in the preparations, meantime learning delightful folk dances that will be used on the program.

Many happy hours of fun and excitement are in store for all who line up for Folk Dancing on Fridays starting January 22.

Travel Agency Hosts Leaders At New Office

Civic, club and social leaders have been invited to attend an informal cocktail party celebrating the opening of Panorama Travel Service's Westlake Office, 375 South Mayfair avenue, this Thursday, January 14, from 4 to 7 p.m.

The prime purpose of the get-together will be to introduce both Panorama's owner, James C. Widtfeldt and the manager of the Westlake Office, Robert T. Halliday, to Daly City officialdom.

According to Widtfeldt, this will be the first and only travel agency in the Westlake area, and the second Panorama branch office expressly designed to provide convenient neighborhood travel service for the West of Twin Peaks communities. The first branch recently opened in the Stonestown Shopping Center, and tthe main office is located at 2505 Geneva ave., opposite the Cow Palace.

Widtfeldt added that all three Panorama offices offer unusually broad travel services that really live up to the "panoramic" name. The organization represents all transportation lines (air, rail, shipand bus), tours, hotels and resorts throughout the world, and as their appointed agent, can provide complete "one-stop" arrangements at no extra cost. He emphasized that Panorama also furnishes all necessary passport, visa and health information, forms and documents for overseas travelers, and offers free ticket delivery service.

COUNTY BOOMS, TOO

Daly City Has 43.4 Percent More Businesses Than Total In 1954

San Mateo County listed 28.5% more businesses in 1959 than in 1954, according to a report released today by Dun & Bradstreet.

Redwood City listed a 32.8% increase, San Mateo a 23.1% gain, South San Francisco a 36.5% gain, San Carlos a 21.5% increase, San Bruno 46.9% Millbrae 19.9%, Menlo Park 37.4,% Daly City 43.4%, Burlingame 5.1%, Belmont a 33.9% increase and Colma a 20.4% increase in the number of businesses for the same period.

"There were 5474 businesses listed this past year in San Mateo County which is an increase of 1215 businesses over 1954," said R. F. Cathcart, district manager of the San Francisco office of Dun & Bradstreet.

Basing his facts upon the figures in the current November 1959, Reference Book, Cathcart points out that the 47 counties of Northern California as a whole showed an increase of 9.8% for this five-year period, and the nine Bay Area counties 8.1% more businesses than in 1954.

The Reference Book lists only manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers and some service companies, such as gasoline service stations and laundries. It does not include all professional and service businesses such as barber and beauty shops, real estate and stock brokers.

This month business concerns in all parts of the county will receive requests for their annual financial statements. Requests this year will go to over 3 million businesses in over 50,000 communities in the United States which are listed in the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book.

These statements become a part of the Dun & Bradstreet credit reports and a credit rating is assigned in the Reference Book. Each Reference Book listing is a condensed summary of the information contained in the Dun & Bradstreet credit report. The report includes an anaylsis of the financial statement, a history of the business, and a description of what the business does and how it pays its bills.

"More than 95 percent of all commercial transactions in the United States are made on credit terms," continued Cathcart. "Dun & Bradstreet is an intermediary between the buyer and the seller. We gather and interpret essential credit background information which is used by business men who want to evaluate the credit risk before shipping or selling, by industry and insurance underwriters as a basis for business decisions."

Using the Dun & Bradstreet Reference Book listings as a guide, here are the comparative statistics on the growth and industrial development in San Mateo County by cities during the past five years:

(City, '54 listings, '59 listings, percentage of change)—

Belmont, 177, 237, 33.9; Burlingame, 454, 477, 5.1; Colma, 88, 106, 20.4; Daly City, 267, 383, 43.4; Menlo Park, 326, 448, 37.4; Millbrae, 146, 175, 19.9; Redwood City, 807, 1072, 32.8; San Bruno, 211, 310, 46.9; San Carlos, 418, 508, 21.5; San Mateo, 791, 974, 23.1; So. San Francisco, 353, 482, 36.5.

The comparative statistics on the industrial development during the past five years in the Bay Area counties:

LAKE MERCED MOTEL BANDIT WAS 'SPORTY'

A small, "sportly" robber took $175 in cash from Lake Merced Lodge Motel manager Robert L. Holleman last Thursday at 2:25 a.m. while Mrs. Holleman and her five-month-old son slept in an adjoining room.

Sergeant Jerry Galindo of the Daly City police said a San Francisco motel was robbed approximately an hour later by a man answering the same description and using the same tactics as the "sport."

The suspect's description was given by Holleman as between 20-25 years of age, 5-2, 130 pounds, light build and complexion, wearing large sun glasses, black shoes with red trim, and loose-fitting blue suit and a green tie.

Holleman heard the doorbell at the motel office and let the visitor inside. The manager turned the desk machine to register the suspect when the man opened his coat and pointed a .45 automatic revolver at Holleman.

"This is it . . . let's have it," were the bandits demands. The "sport" failed to take checks or coins but grabbed $175 in currency.

"Im not going to tap you," he told Holleman. Then the intruder explained, "Im not going to hit you on the head." He ordered Holleman to lie on his back behind the service counter. The motel owner complied. Holleman said no vehicle was seen or heard after the robber fled.

AN ORDINANCE AMENDING ORDINANCE NO. 203 TO PROVIDE FOR THE DESIGNATION OF THE PERSONNEL CLERK AS PERSONNEL OFFICER TO PROVIDE FOR PROBATIONARY PERIODS FOR POLICE OFFICERS AND EXTENSIONS OF TEMPORARY APPOINTMENTS

WHEREAS, experience in the administration of the Civil Service System in the City of Daly City during the past twenty years has indicated that the period of probation set forth in Ordinance No. 203 is too short in the instance of employment of new police officers, and

WHEREAS, experience has further indicated that a three months' limitation upon temporary appointments has proven to be an unreasonably short period of time in many instance, and

WHEREAS, in the judgment of the City Council the amendment of Ordinance No. 203 so as to extend the probationary period for police officers, so as to extend the temporary appointment limitation from three to six months and to change the title of Personnel Clerk to Personnel Officer in no way operates adversely against any person holding a classified position under the Civil Service System in Daly City established by Ordinance No. 203, and

NOW THEREFORE, the City Council of the City of Daly City does ordain as follows:

1. Ordinance No. 203 and all other ordinances of the City of Daly City are hereby amended so as to change the position and title of Personnel Clerk to that of Personnel Officer. 2. Section 5, subparagraph (e) thereof, is amended to read as follows:

"(e) A period of probation of six months before an appointment or promotion is made complete during which period a probationer may be discharged or reduced by the appointing power without right of appeal, if during the performance test the appointing council or officer deems him unfit or unsatisfactory for service, provided however, that in the instance of appointment of an officer of the Police Department of the City of Daly City, the period of probation shall be twelve months."

3. Section 8, the last full paragraph thereof, is hereby amended to read as follows:

"Temporary appointments may be made by the City Council or by an appointing officer of persons who do not possess the minimum standards or qualifications for office, or whose applications have not been filed or who have not been certified on an eligible list as a result of an examination, or in the event those who are eligible are not immediately available. + TEEN TALK +

By Joe Bavaresco

First of all, thank you for all the cards and letters wanting to join my teen non-drinkers club. If you would like to belong to the TNDC just address a card or letter to me in care of this paper or care of Camp Meeker, Calif., and your membership card will be sent to you. We also have real crazy TNDC T-shirts ordered which I will tell you about next week. They're real sharp. A real riot and conversation piece. Now for this week's letters:

Dear Mr. Bavaresco: I am a 17 year old Senior. Lst night I met my buddy's girl at a party. His girl and I hit it off just great. We had never met before but we were talking like old friends. You might say like sister and brother. We talked over some love problems of mine and other personal problems. I guess I took up most of their date. This is my problem: my buddy usually drives me to work. Well, this morning and yesterday morning he phoned and said very coldly that he couldn't pick me up. My other friends tell me he's mad at me and he thinks I am trying to steal his girl. This is wrong. We just hit it off as real good friends. What do I do? I'm really stuck. He's my best friend. Help me, please.

J. M.

Dear J.M.: Man, go straight to your buddy and tell him the facts. Tell him you and his girl are just friends, and that he has nothing to worry about. Next time J.M., be careful with another guy's date. You monopolized all their date. This isn't fair. If he is really your buddy you should have used common sense and realized that you were taking up their evening. Go right to your buddy and explain before it's too late. Let this be a lesson to you.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco: My problem is my boy friend. He is nice looking, but he wears his hair real long. All my friends say he's a hood or at least looks like one. My parents don't like him because of his hair style. He says he can't trust a barber to cut it short and make it look good. He's afraid if he cuts it short he'll look stupid. How can I get him to cut his hair so others will see how nice he really is and not judge him by his appearance.

Delila and her Samson

Dear Delila: I'm sorry to say it is true that people do judge teenagers by their appearance. Your letter interested me, so the past week I have been asking adult friends of mine what they thought of a kid with long hair. They all said, "He must be mean." "He's probably a gangster." "A trouble maker." You see how true your statement is that people do judge teenagers by their appearance. If a teenager wears long hair, right away he is judged as a "gangster, hood, mean or trouble maker." Guys, be careful of your appearance, it is always a target. Appearance really means a lot in this world we live in. Being a columnist, I appear on TV very often. I also appear at different high schools for rallies and benefit shows, etc. So being in front of the public so much I am open to criticism. So my appearance has to be perfect. It took a long time to find the right barber for me. This barber specialized in young guys' hair styles and he is the best I have ever found. He is an expert on teenage hair styles. Being young himself, he knows teenage appearance problems. He can style your hair to suit you.

Dear Mr. Bavaresco: I am 16 yrs. old. I am engaged to be married after I graduate. I haven't told anyone this, but I don't think I love him. We have set the date for June. Now I lay awake at night and wonder. I think when I became engaged that I was so excited about being engaged that I forgot what it really meant. When I kiss him it's like kissing a wall. It's nothing. I don't feel any love for him. What do I do? I don't want to hurt him for anything. He's very nice. My family and his family keep pushing and talking about the wedding. What shall I do? How can I break it off gently? S.L.

Dear S. I.: There's no way of breaking off an engagement gently. One must suffer. It wouldn't be fair to him for you to keep him under the illusion that you love him if you don't. Instead of going to a movie on your next date, or wherever you plan to go, so somewhere where you can be alone. Explain to him how you feel. Explain it slowly and gently. I realize that families can get pushy about weddings and you'll hurt a lot of feelings but it's better now than to suffer with the consequences later. It is still early enough in your case to give the ring back and break on friendly terms.

Thought for the Week:

"It is just as good to have many enemies as many friends because sometimes your best friend won't tell you." Think it over. See you next week. Send all problems or thoughts for the week to Joe Bavaresco, Camp Meeker, Calif., or care of this newspaper.

Joe Bavaresco will be appearing as Master of Ceremonies for a benefit show in Daly City at the War Memorial Building, January 15, 7:30 p.m. to raise money for Carmel Cresci, a 13-year-old girl with 14 major diseases. Fifteen hundred dollars must be raised to save young Carmel. This will cover the cost of operations and hospital expenses. Both parents are ill and have no funds. You are cordially invited to attend. Donations, $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. For reservations call Mrs Abbate, VA 4-5527.

WESTLAKE GIRL RUNS AWAY TO SANTA MONICA

A 16-year-old Westlake girl was apprehended in Santa Monica after running away from the Belmar avenue home of her foster parents Saturday.

She left the house at 7 p.m. Saturday, leaving a note thanking them for their kindness but stating she liked Southern California better. Officer Matthew Murray received the report from the girl's foster parents.

Chief Roland Petrocchi had the San Jose Police Department stop a bus there but the girl was not on it. She was taken into custody at 2:25 a.m. Sunday in Santa Monica.

Why Stand In Line? Renew License Now!

Is there a blue-grey sticker on the rear license plate of your car?

Are you taking care of this important matter early in the New Year? Or letting it slide until the last minute?

People who renew their automobile registration during the first few days of January, and put the renewal sticker in place, can in good conscience look for the new sticker on the license plates of their friends and neighbors.

Motorists who get this chore out of the way as one of their first acts in 1960 will enjoy several advantages, according to Robert McCarthy, state director of motor vehicles.

First, there's the advantage of saving time. License renewal lines at local Motor Vehicles Department offices and at some banks, which are handling renewals as a courtesy to their customers, are getting progressively longer as the February 4 deadline approaches.

Secondly, license renewal is a necessary evil, and once accomplished, you can forget it.

And then, there's the fun of being able to sport your new license sticker around people who are postponing their application as long as possible, and who will have to wait in long lines to avoid paying the late penalty. Having taken care of this item, you can go on to more important things.

With more than eight million motor vehicles to be registered in California in just over a month's time, every person who values time is well advised to do his "license sticker shopping early."

Daly City residents may renew their automobile license for 1960 at the Westlake office of the Department of Motor Vehicles at 199 Southgate avenue. The office is open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Mondays through Fridays, and from 8 until noon on Saturdays during January.

Judge Frank Blum Guest Of Lions; Women To Install

Superior Court Judge Frank B. Blum, a Westlake resident and former city attorney of Daly City, will address the Daly City - Colma Lions Club regular meeting this Wednesday noon at Val's Redwood Room. He will discuss the Northern California Service League.

Former city councilman Arthur J. Bodien, chairman of Daly City's 1961 centenial celebration, will be the Lions' guest speaker on January 20 at the same site.

The Lionesses club, wives of the unit's members, will install new officers this Thursday evening at Oliver's in South San Francisco. Bernice Hannah will handle these rites. Josephine Putkey is president of the Lionesses. Other officers: May Charette, vice president; Lucille Radhuber, recording secretary; Dorothy DeLeon, corresponding secretary, and Ann Ingersoll, treasurer. Inez Weibel and Terry Fontana are in charge of reservations.

Vandals Damage DC Water Well

Public Works Director Otis Calhoun reported to police last Thursday that $800 damage was done to a new well at A and Reiner streets in Colma, sometime between June of last year and last week.

Officer Charles Munday said the suspects took the welded cap from the well and dumped boxes and 2x4 boards into the shaft along with other debris. The same procedure was followed when debris was dumped into the well last September. The case was turned over to Broadmoor Police as the territory involved is under their jurisdiction.

Mountain View Salesman Faces Drunk Charge Here

Lyle Edward Jones, 30, a salesman of 541 Mercy street, Mountain View, was found asleep while in the middle of School street and "found to be in an advanced state of intoxication," according to Officer William Schumacher.

Schumacher came across Jones Thursday at 12:30 a.m. while on routine patrol. Jones, when awakened, refused to give his name or address and became belligerent, Schumacher said. He was booked on charges of being drunk in or about an auto.

Judge Charles Becker set bail at $52.50.

FUN GALORE AT THESE TOP SPOTS

Two For Tonight

By Leonore Brewer

It is not often that one of our off-Geary street theatres has the opportunity to present a first San Francisco production along the musical line, but this is what is happening at the Bella Pacific where the company of the Golden Hind is cavorting through "House of Flowers."

After a brief Broadway fling two seasons back, this Harold Arlen-Truman Capote musical disappeared into that grey limbo reserved for the not quite successful theatrical effort, from which it has been rescued by Rachmael ben Avram who has given it a colorful rebirth. And how appropriate it is that this whimsy about two rival houses of joy should play on Pacific avenue, which has so many redolent memories of friskier days!

Set during Mardi Gras time on an unspoiled island, five miles off the coast of Paradise, the plot is an off-beat tale of untouched young love blossoming amidst the careless devotees of the easiest way. It is laced with long streamers of double entendre which the players toss about with delightful innocence, and mystic voodoo rites contribute a touch of unreality.

Ottilie and Royal (Alberta Walker and Morris Nelson) are the two pawns caught up in the amoral maneuverings of Madame Tango (Fran De Mello) and Madame Fleur (Mary Wildensten), rivals for what scant custom there is available.

The latter's business has been through a virulent recession caused by an outbreak of mumps among the oft-plucked "flowers" (Barbara Demaree, Bobby McGrath and Patti Taffjen). When Madame is threatened with the loss of Ottilie, she doesn't hesitate to use the same modus operandi involving a conniving sea captain (Nick Thomas) and a man-sized barrel, which has been so successful in removing past obstructions.

Mary Wildensten swishes her way through the role of Madame Fleur and the audience would have taken an encore of her "I'm An Indoor Girl" were such tidings permitted. The scenes involving the Houngan (Gene Nowell) were most effective, particularly when Dolores Velez's Duchess of the Sea commanded the Houngan's disciples to become sharks or a single giant turtle.

As directed by Rachmael ben Avram, "House of Flowers" is a scintillating production stunningly costumed by Suzanne Hart. It will fill the elegant Bella Pacific for as long as it cares to run and this will gladden the hearts of the ghosts of old San Francisco as they wander through the scene of their own flowery days.

Snell PTA Is Renamed To 'Garden Village'

For those who were unable to attend last month's meeting of James L. Snell PTA, the president announces that the unit henceforth will be known as Garden Village PTA, taking the name of the school.

The monthly meeting will be held Tuesday, January 19, at 8 p.m. in the Garden Village multi-purpose room.

The main feature of the program will be a discussion about the relationship between the school nurse, the children and the community. Mrs. Helen Delafield, school district coordinator of health and welfare, and Mrs. Betty Boykin, school nurse, will lead the presentation, according to publicity chairman Mrs. Philip Glebow.

Everyone is invited to attend and also to stay and enjoy the refreshment hour and to visit with teachers and other parents.

Mayor Fassler Seeks Heart Drive Helpers

More than 250 volunteers from Pacifica will be needed for the 1960 Heart Sunday drive on February 28, Mrs. Jean Fassler of Pacifica announced today. Mrs. Fassler is Heart Sunday chairman for Pacifica, whose appointment has just been announced by Heart Sunday chairman Mrs. Don Davis of Hillsborough.

Mrs. Fassler pointed out that men and women may volunteer by registering at Heart Fund headquarters on 181 Second avenue, San Mateo (or by telephoning DI 2-2693).

"Personal fund-raising for the Heart cause is a most rewarding effort. A large part of the gifts collected will be used to support programs of research, as well as education and community service in our county," Mrs Fassler said. "With the cardiovascular diseases affecting one out of every two persons, all of us have a personal stake in the heart program."

Each volunteer will visit families in his own immediate neighborhood, Mrs. Fassler explained. "No previous fund-raising experience is needed, and a warm welcome is always given to workers for the Heart Fund. After all, what family in Pacifica has not lost a loved one from this health enemy?" Mrs. Fassler asked.

Heart Sunday on February 28 will climax a nation-wide drive in the month long campaign.

SEACLIFF CHURCH OPENS SERIES OF MEETS ON AFRICA

On Friday, January 15, at 8 p.m., the Women's Society For World Service will hold its monthly meeting in the parlor at Seacliff Community Church, 50 Northridge drive, Daly City.

The meeting will be the first of a series of four devoted to the study of Africa. Dorothy Alexander will present the lesson and Alice Fanthorpe will be the hostess for the evening.

The group extends a welcome to interested persons to join them in their study program. For further information call PL 6-0612.

TELEPHONE INTERVIEW

'Just Where Is Daly City' Asks Zazu Pitts Of Lady Columnist

By MONA BAKER
TV & Radio
Staff Writer

"Oh, Susanna!" Nugey assumes an expression that is worth a hundred words — a past-master in the art of pantomime," talented Zazu Pitts who portrays Nugey on ABC-TV's "Gale Storm Show" (KGO-TV, weekdays 2:30 p.m., Thursday., 7:30 p.m.), keeps the program rollicking along at a hilarious pace, ably supported by veteran character actor Roy Roberts who plays the part of crusty Captain Huxley.

Both stars have had a long and successful career in the movies, on the stage and now in television. Feeling sure that they would have sage words of advice to offer young people who aspire to a dramatic career, we were pleased that we could have a telephone interview with them direct from the set in Hollywood where they were filming the show's coming episodes.

One of the first questions Miss Pitts asked was "just where is Daly City?" We had to exercise restraint from not going into an enthusiastic description of our bustling area—after all we were interviewing her and it was long distance. Concerning her career and how she came to be an actress, the famous star replied "my mother said you'll be an actress, so I'm an actress." When asked about what advice she has to offer young people she said "you have to go after it yourself. It depends upon how much fortitude you have if you can stick with it." Questioned about preparation for a dramatic career, she said she would like to pass that question on to Roy Roberts, who she felt was better able to answer. Mr. Roberts emphasized the importance of a college education, and suggested that would-be actors and actresses study dramatics in college and read Shakespeare aloud. He felt television is an excellent medium to reach more people, and related he was particularly conscious of this during his past summer tour, when many people who came back stage to meet him, felt they already knew him because of television.

In addition to her many entertaining movies, Miss Pitt's outstanding roles include the sage performance of "The Late Christopher Bean," and her most recent as star of "The Solid Gold Cadillac." BURLINGAME, HILLSDALE NEXT FOES

BEERMAN POURS 19 AS RAMS WIN DEBUT

South San Francisco's Coach Bob Hagberg must still have the name of Clark Beerman ringing over and over again in his ears.

The 6-4 center controlled the boards so adequately that the only thing he didn't do with them was bring them home with him after leading Westmoor to a 43-30 Peninsula League opening victory last Friday.

Westmoor hosts Burlingame Wednesday at 3:15 p.m. and then travels to Hillsdale for Friday's 7:30 p.m. contest.

Beerman so completely dominated the SSF game that the result was he actually made the inaugural game for the Rams cohesive. Actually, the Rams win was not as overwhelming as the score would indicate even though the only lead the Warriors had was at 1-0.

Stan Johnson's foul shot put South City ahead, but Westmoor captain Bill Dougherty weaved his way through three Warrior defenders for a lay-in. From then on it was all Westmoor, or should the word Beerman be used as a synonym.

Beerman would control the defensive rebound, pass off, trek down the court and sweep the boards at the offensive side, and put in a two pointer himself. This accounted for his 19 markers, game high. Clark would jump up, grab the ball and hold it over his head, then make an easy inside shot.

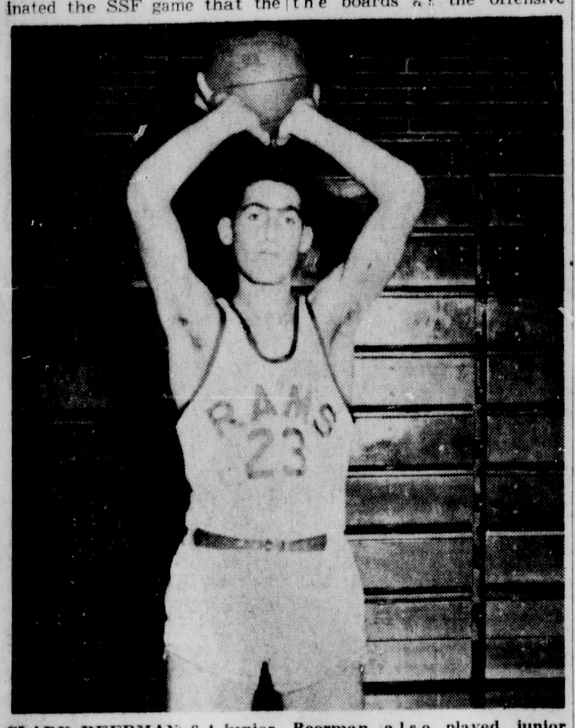
Terry Christman showed the outside shooting that can be of great value in the future to Coach Tony Giammona. He ended the tilt with 9 points. Barry Krohn did not start as expected due to his catching the flu. He saw limited action and was ineffectual, no doubt due to his lack of practice because of being bedded down.

The Warriors' Kray Hensley paced the losers with 18 points. His shots, mostly long one handers would drop through the net with unerring accuracy. South City could have been in the contest right to the end if they would have sank charity tosses. The Warriors missed 16 of 24 free tosses. The Rams made 3 of 9.

Ray Ming, 5-8 guard, was also outstanding for Hagberg's crew.

Westmoor's 130's were colder than last week's soup at the outset, dropping behind 8-0. Their tilt was tied at 12-12, 13-13, and 17-17, before the Warriors pressed them into errors. By the end of the third quarter South City led 22-17, enroute to a 36-27 win.

Harry Brown potted 9 points for the losers while Dick Avold and Rich Drake had 10 apiece for the winners.



CLARK BEERMAN, 6-4 junior, is the tallest man in the Westmoor attack. Along with Andy Saranchock, Clark is counted upon to do most of the rebounding for the Ram five. Beerman also played junior varsity football as an end. The lanky lad can shoot from outside as well as gain his share of points on tip-ins.

LOOK OUT BOB COUSY:

Pro-Type Scoring 8th Grade Ben Franklin Hits 88 Points

Daly City's Department of Parks and Recreation's 1960 Boys' Basketball Leagues opened last Saturday at Westmoor High gymnasium and War Memorial Community Center.

In the 5th Grade League, the BYA Hawks were beaten by the taller Tigers, 25 to 7. The Tigers were led by forward Deluco, who scored 15 points. Our Lady of Mercy Dons beat PAL Beavers in the closest game of the day, 22-20. D. Duryea led Our Lady of Mercy with 8 points. Larry Black of PAL led the scoring with 9 points.

The Our Lady of Perpetual Help Aces and the Huskies fought a defensive battle with the Aces winning 10-4.

The Our Lady of Mercy Gaels walloped the BYA Hornets in the 6th Grade League. The Gaels were led by Clifford with 8 points. The BYA Celtics, who got a strong performance from Bob Hood, beat the Our Lady of Perpetual Help Broncos, 27-16. Hood led all scorers with 14 points. He was also very strong on the backboards.

In the 7th Grade League, the Our Lady of Mercy "A" team needed a second-half splurge to beat their own "B" team, 32-14. The "A" team's Tracy played an outstanding defensive game, as well as being leading scorer with 9 points. The Ben Franklin five put on an offensive display against the cold-shooting Our Lady of Perpetual Help Saints by walloping the latter, 53-6. Big guns for Ben Franklin were Gardner and Donovan with 12 points each.

The Ben Franklin 8th graders proved just as powerful as their 7th grade juniors by walloping Temple Judea, 88-13. Perry and Fotenos scored 16 each, and Poole followed with 15 points. Ben Franklin had a considerable height advantage on the Judea Club. All nine of Ben Franklin's squad played at least two quarters. Our Lady of Mercy fought off a third quarter drive by PAL to win 35-26. Barry of OLM led the scorers with 18, while Willis of PAL had 16.

Jeff To Meet Mills, Will Host Westmoor

The Indians hit the trails again next Wednesday, traveling to Mills for a 3:15 p.m. cage contest.

Westmoor will arrive at the Jefferson gym for the intercity rivalry tilt at 7:30 p.m. Friday next week. A lightweight game will precede the varsity clash. It will be the first meeting of the two Daly City schools this year.

Ram Teams Win Final Practice Cage Games

Westmoor's varsity and 130's closed out the practice season with victories over Lick Wilmerding last week. It was the first triumph for the Ram lightweights.

The varsity rolled to a 41-36 win, Dick Reese getting 16 points. Reese started as both Barry Krohn and Bill Dougherty were ill and did not suit up. The other reserve, Jim Heick, also did well. He only made four points, but Coach Tony Giammona praised him for his ballhandling and playmaking tactics.

"Heick is going to help us quite a bit in the future, being an able replacement at the guard position," Giammona noted. Other scorers were: Clark Beerman, 9; Terry Christman, 8; and Andy Saranchock, 2 points.

The 22-13 halftime lead held up to the end of the game.

"Lord" Byron Van Alstyne's lightweights picked apart the Wilmerding crew, 31-23. Ahead 16-13 at the half the Rams accumulated more points off the shooting arms of Harry Brown and Joe Burtorac. Brown had 13 markers while Burtorac swished 9.

Mustangs, 'Cats Edge PL Cage Opposition

San Mateo and Capuchino, two highly rated Peninsula League teams, squeezed by their victims by narrow gap scores last Friday.

Center Myron Wacholder's lay-in with 10 seconds left assured the Bearcats of a 34-31 edging of Hillsdale. Dave Balsley, of San Mateo, had 5 field goals and 3 free throws for 13 points, and Dennis France, of Hillsdale, pushed in 4 field goals and 3 free throws for 11 markers.

The Mustangs, defending PL champs, took a 31-29 decision over Mills, with guard Neil Calhoon leading the way with 12 points.

Class B action found Hillsdale pushing past San Mateo, 31-28, and Capuchino punishing Mills, 51-32. Johnny Baugh and Dave Kotta had 18 and 15 points, respectively, for the Mustang lightweights.

Sports Car Rally Scheduled Friday At Yacht Harbor

The San Francisco Sports Car Club will present its second "Madd Mann's Rally" this Friday at St. Francis Yacht Harbor in San Francisco. Registration starts at 7 p.m., and the first car takes the road at 7:31 p.m., according to rallymaster Bob Mann.

It is straight time and distance rally with no tricks or gimmicks. There are four classes: expert, senior, novice, and seat of the pants. Interested parties desiring more information may contact Bunny Gallant, PL 5-8760.

Other events are on February 19 and May 7 and 8. The February meet is the Bissextile Rally and the May gathering is the Alpine Rally.

$PORT$ $ECTION$?

Last week should have been termed National Financial Week in Sports. The difference between the $port$ page$ and financial page were of little fluctuation.

For instance, stock in Billy Cannon, LSU's blasting runner, went up from approximately 10.3 to 20.3 per share. In other words, the National Football League Rams couldn't dole out enough cannon fodder to suit the footballer and he signed with the Houston entry in the American Football League. It isn't doubtful that range in price may have been as high as $10,000.

Oklahoma's Sooners credit union was hit for "loaning money" as well as was Tulsa's grid administration. Sooners' coach Bud Wilkinson's reply to the charges amounted to "Sooner(s) or later the 1953 case would be brought into the open."

At the same time, the story broke that the bowl games, including the Sugar Bowl, were paying out a different type of "sugar" to have players compete.

But wait a minute, Mr. Rockefeller, that's not all. Charles "Candlestick" Harney demanded more money for odds and ends. Harney claimed he was being unfairly harassed by the contract, and San Francisco stated he was harnessed. Only a difference of a couple letters in a word—but worth thousands.

And for those interested in the long-legged sport, a nag named Julie Kate only paid $85 to win at the Arcadia track. The filly, not a cigar, could have contacted Cannon after the race and signed him for more money yet.

An old-timer would always brag about the old days. "Everyone knows that Joe Ficklefingers of the 1898 Red Sox was a better outfielder than Stan Musial," he would probably claim. In the money realm, he'd say, "Yes, but what of Hugh McElhenny having to take a cut in pay when joining the 49ers from Washington University."

Of later origin, "What of Dick Bass driving to COP in his brand new auto when he first decided to complete his education there?"

To get back to last week's action though, the best money venture was put forward by Ray Robinson, the "sugar man" who owes "dough" to the Internal Revenue Department. Robinson offered to train in a store window with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes. Most commendable.

Rams Grapple To Draw With SSF

Westmoor's grapplers crushed Mills, 36-15, during the Christmas vacation but didn't have the momentum to carry them past South San Francisco Friday, January 9, and had to settle for a 22-22 tie.

The team chose 120-pounder Glenn Stenstrom and 145-pounder Len Jacobsen as co-captains last week. Bob Porras, co-captain of the football team at Westmoor, pinned his South City foe in the featured 175-pound bout.

Results: 103—Pettit (W) dec. Upchurch; 112 — Tellez (W) dec. Knight; 120 — Stenstrom (W) dec. Rich; 127—McNamara dec. Pory (W); 133 — Aiello dec. Kyle (W); 138 — McGee dec. Rogers (W); 145—Jacobsen (W) dec. Seybold; 154 — Crestman dec. Hansen (W); 165—Jordan pinned Wade (W).

175 — Porras (W) pinned Rogers; 191 — Kitchen (W) pinned Faria; unlimiteds — Drysdale pinned Frydenlund (W).

JEFFERSON LOSES IN LAST QUARTER TO BURLINGAME

Jefferson, losers in the opener to Burlingame by a scant 43-39 margin, face a tough hurdle this Friday as the Indians host the red hot Capuchino Mustangs at 7:30 p.m.

The Indians met Hillsdale on the locals home floor Wednesday, and all coverage of midweek games will be carried in The Record the following week.

Burlingame showed it won't be a push-over in the tight fisted Peninsula League race. Three injured players during the practice games have formed the Burl's into a sturdy outfit. Bob O'Donnell and Jim Bledsoe plunked in 12 points apiece while Doug Squire made 5 valuable markers.

A steady performance by Gary Molossi, with the able help of Jack Horn, went down the drain as the Mustangs seeped through for a 43-39 win by scoring five more points in the final quarter.

Molossi splashed for 13 points while Horn garnered 10. Pat Bell's 8 markers also aided the Jeff cause.

The score was tied at halftime, 19-19, but the Panthers dominated the second half by outrebounding the smaller statured Indians. O'Donnell and Mike Jedin, two lanky performers, were bean-poled above the little Jeffersonians and that ultimately meant the ball game.

Scoring efforts were of the see-saw type for three quarters before Bledsoe and Ward Heneveld pushed two pointers through the hoop late in the foray.

The lightweights didn't have to worry about see-saws though. They completely boarded the bucket during the second period, holding Burlingame to 0 markers, and nailing down a 40-23 clincher.

Sonny Stoller put his application in for his third consecutive selection to a lightweight all league team by hammering 10 points. Stoller is an All-League 110 and 120 player, playing in a higher classification this time.

Bob Brush's four field goals gave him 8 points for the night. Halftime score was Jeff, 18—Burlingame, 7.

Almost all the little Indians who played reached the scoring column. Jack Morris had 9 points for the Pantherites.

Pot-Of-Gold Now Totals $575 In Westlake Bowling Tourney

The Jack Pot doubles tournament at Swanson's Westlake lanes is proving very popular with the kegling set.

Although the tourney hasn't been in progress more than three weeks, the pot-of-gold now totals $575. The winners' share will be 30 percent of the total prize fund, and 16 other duos will also participate in the distribution of the money.

The Jack Pot tourney ends when some double combination bowls 1385 with or without their handicap or, if not, rolled by the ending date of January 31, 1960.

It is a three-game affair at the low cost of $3 per person, of which $1.50 goes for bowling, 20 cents to the scorekeeper and $1.30 to the prize fund.

Handicaps are based on current averages or 1959 Blue Book, whichever is highest. Doubles teams may bowl as often as they wish, but no more than two sets on any one pair of lanes in any 24-hour period. Also, you are allowed to win as many times as your team is in the money.

Although the tournament ends when 1385 is bowled or the closing date, no new bowlers will be allowed to enter in the Jack Pot the final two weeks if they have not rolled by midnight, January 17.

Jerry Eldredge Jr. and Ray Duffy continue to lead the tandems with 1330, handicap included. Second place team is Joe Lucia and Ed Keith with 1317, followed by Hillie Narin and Charlies Gibbs, 1307, Jim Wilson-Jack Overdorf, 1291, and Ray Duffy-Fred Von Husen, 1287.

For any information regarding this tourney and as to times and when lanes are available, call the Westlake Bowl, PL 6-5777.

St. Clair Says New Pro Loop Beneficial

by LOU LUCIA

San Francisco 49er tackle and Daly City councilman Bob St. Clair today gave his views on the new professional football conference, the American Football League.

In essence, he believes the league will be beneficial to college athletes desiring to enter pro ball. St. Clair said:

"The important thing the new proposed American Football League brings into consideration is the option clause. It's a touchy situation. Players have always wondered about the legality of the option clause. A number of NFL players are considering jumping to AFL teams, and if they do, they will be sued. This will be the test of the option clause—a contract which binds a player to one team.

"There are plenty of good college football players, but the AFL will have to rely on a nucleus of veteran players, and that is why they're seeking some of the footballers currently playing in the National Football League. The AFL is good for football. Usually there are but 70 players picked from the colleges by the NFL, and this is amazingly low considering there are more than 3000 colleges to choose from.

"I think the new league will succeed not only because of the tremendous financial backing, but because professional football has caught on. Years ago I would have definitely said 'no' to a new loop like the AFL coming into being. Today the demand is great. Professional football has proved itself as entertainment for millions.

"This can be proven by asking any of thousands of fans who have tried to get a ticket for 49er games. San Francisco could build 30,000 more seats and fill them every week.

"Pro football games are televised nationally and people in cities which will enter the new league have a great interest. There are very rabid fans already. Pro football has built interest through TV. Next move for expansion will be, without a doubt, professional basketball.

"I haven't been approached by any of the AFL teams, mainly because I haven't shown an interest."
